Dear Diary,

I finally got through my annual examinations. I tried my best to study and score marks, but I constantly feel like I'm not enough, like I've got all this hidden potential in me that's being wasted. I wish I could figure out how to get this hidden potential out of me. I'd give anything just to feel complete and content. I can't wait to go back home and meet my friends and family. I've been missing them a lot. I'm so sick of this place and it's terrible food and weather. My sleep schedule's been getting worse, and it's only a matter of time before I turn insane.
